Cultivating Safety From Leadership Onward

Robert Brewer, President & CEO -- PUC Services Inc.

As workplace safety continues to evolve, it's crucial for organizations to prioritize safety concerns and redefine their roles in this dynamic environment. This could not be truer in today's uncertain landscape where workplaces are feeling the pressure to perform while the mental health of workers is stretched beyond the limits. How do leaders cultivate a culture of safety while optimizing business performance, innovation, service excellence and employee engagement?

Join us for an engaging discussion from a leader in the Sault Ste. Marie community whose organization has distinguished themselves by fostering inclusive leadership and will share successful safety strategies and innovative values. PUC Services has championed health, safety, and wellness within their organizations, embedding these principles into their corporate culture.

Situational Awareness & De-escalation

1:00 - 4:30 pm

Workplace violence and harassment policies have been a requirement in the workplace, for over 10 years. In our current landscape, many workers are now experiencing an increase in verbal abuse, threats of violence, sexual harassment, and racism from customers and sometimes from other staff. This half-day workshop will provide an overview of related legislative requirements and help you to understand why it is more important than ever, that violence and harassment policies and programs are in place and effective.
